THE CAMPAIGN IN OHIO.
So far as the organization of the two parties in Ohio is concerned the issue is sharply drawn between democracy and Hannaism. The chairman and secretary of the Hanna committee are professional politicians who make their living out of politics and have no other visible means of support. Both Chairman Dick and Secretary Malloy are kept by Senator Hanna. Both are members and tools of the Hanna machine and their play in politics is to get office for themselves and friends. And in that respect they are good Republicans and are only living up to Republican policy as taught in the political business college presided over by Professor Hanna.
Chairman Daugherty of the Democratic executive committee is a lawyer who earns his living by practicing law, and Secretary Gilliam earns his as a practicing physician. Neither of them has been an office holder or office seeker, and both are clean, honest, upright, public-spirited citizens who take a keen interest in public affairs and give their time, energy and ability to the promotion of Democratic principles through love of those principles.
On the one hand there will be thorough military organization carried into every ward, township and school district in the state, and with all the money they need contributed by the trusts and corporations which expect to enjoy special privileges under Republican rule. Dick and Malloy are about as good organizers as Hanna could find. In addition to this they are shrewd, crafty and cunning. There is no political trick they don't know how to turn, and no method of fooling the people they won't adopt. Moreover they have back of them a corps of trained Republican editors who will play the game with all the cunning and desperation of Hanna, Dick and Malloy.
Daugherty and Gilliam are the right kind of men to run a Democratic campaign in Ohio. They will play the kind of politics that will permit them to retain their self-respect and command the respect of all lovers of liberty and justice. They will proceed on the theory that Democracy means government of the people, by the people and for the people, and not government of bosses or political conceptionists. And they will conduct a campaign that will suit the clean character of the men on the ticket. It will be a campaign of principle against a campaign of boodle, bossism, deceit and corruption.

Mrs. Austin will soon be in town. "Clover Leaf" makes more loaves than the straight flour commonly sold in Newark, and besides making more loaves to a barrel of flour, it makes whiter bread that will keep moist and stay fresh longer than any bread you ever made. This last is quite an item. Try a sack of "Clover Leaf" and give us a chance to prove our claim.

STEEL STRIKE
An interview said that the strike will be won by the strikers. He believed that when he started the strike, and he still believes it. He said he was still prepared to discuss honorable terms of settlement with the steel corporation, but he did not look for any move in that direction for some time to come. President Shaffer also said he has well defined plans for bringing the strike to a close by bringing about such a crisis in the differences between the steel corporation and the Amalgamated Association as will force a settlement. Just how all this is to be accomplished is a mystery, but it will not be by arbitration or litigation.
In answer to questions about the numerous stories going the rounds of mediation or arbitration, Mr. Shaffer dismissed all by saying: "We have not heard from the other side; we have not placed anything before them, and I know of nobody acting for either side or on any side. We are not hunting for arbitration. Arbitration representing both sides might be worse than the strike itself. Two willing champions, one for either side, might have a worse fight in choosing a third party and in settling the differences than we in the continuation of the strike. I have told the other side that personally I would consent for disinterested arbitration in the hands of such public men as Archbishop Ireland, Bishop Potter and Seth Low, although I did not as an officer of the association suggest such a move. I was willing to advise it."
John Steindorff, a rougher from Richmond, Va., who claimed he was a member of the party of strike breakers brought to Monesson Sunday by Alabama Joe Carter, was at strike headquarters. He said Carter had entirely misrepresented the facts to him, and that he slipped out of the works the first time a chance presented itself. He says 14 men left Richmond, that five deserted on route and that three left when he did. He placed the number of men now in the mill at 18, and said very little work was being accomplished. The strikers welcomed Steindorff and were elated over his statement. When he told them that another party was being formed to come north they took steps to head it off.
According to the strike leaders only 20 men who were formerly members of the Amalgamated Association have gone to work in the mills that are now being operated partly or in full with nonunion men.
There was no extension of the strike Wednesday. The steel managers made no attempt to start more mills. There were fires lighted at the Demmler tin plate works at McKeesport but the machinery was not started and no attempt was made to operate it. It is believed, however, that the move is preliminary to a start with nonunion men. The managers of the company have been preparing for several days to reopen a number of their properties, and it is thought they have decided to act at once. Their Monesson plant is moving ahead uninterruptedly with full crews, and their Crescent works at Cleveland has about half the machines in operation. There has been no break in the Carnegie group and the mills that have been started with nonunion men since the strike began are going ahead with about the same force of men. The leaders on either side were busy all day but had no announcements to make.
Veryl Preston was at the office of the Carnegie Steel company and conferred at length with President W. E. Corey and other leading officials. President Shaffer was at the office of the Amalgamated Association all day and spent most of the time conferring with delegations of strikers. On the streets it was a day of exciting rumors, beginning with a circumstantial story of a plot to destroy the Monongahela tin plant and ending with a tale of the removal of the largest plants of the United States Steel corporation to England. Between the two rumors again settled the strike in several ways. However, official denial was given to all these interesting stories. It was another day of peace in all the strike districts.
Battle With Strikers.
Madisonville, Ky., Aug. 22.—Judge Nunn was requested to call on Governor Beckham to send troops to assist the local authorities in preserving peace. This request is in consequence of a pitched battle at St. Charles between deputy sheriffs and union men, in which over 100 shots were fired and several were wounded. The St. Charles Coal company employs nonunion labor. Union miners have been trying to get the men into their organization. A crowd of union men were at St. Charles station armed and behaving in a boisterous manner. Warrants for their arrest were placed in the hands of deputy sheriffs, who found the men in a house barricaded. When the officers approached they were fired on. They returned the fire until the men retreated from the house and several of them were captured. The citizens have organized to prevent further violence.

GO IN ON A MINORITY REPORT.
Attempt to Confine the Platform to State Issues Failed—Republicans of Pennsylvania Name Their Ticket and Adopt a Platform—Straight Republican Ticket in Virginia.
Des Moines, Aug. 22.—For governor, Thomas J. Phillips of Ottumwa; lieutenant governor, G. E. Ferguson of Logan; judge supreme court, John Shortley of Dallas county; superintendent of schools, W. P. Johnson of Carroll; railway commissioner, A. S. Peck of Bedford.
The Democrats of Iowa, in state convention, nominated the above ticket on a platform affirming the national platform adopted July 5, 1900, at Kansas City, with the addition of planks on state issues demanding reform in taxation laws, the repeal of liquor law, the enactment of a local option license law and several other matters of interest only to the people of the state.
The committee on resolutions was seriously divided, the majority favoring a platform somewhat on the Ohio plan, with no reference to national issues. The preamble of the majority report was as follows: "Resolved, that the fundamental principle of Democracy, 'equal rights to all and special privileges to none,' applies in full force to the subject of taxation. The Democratic party believes that the burdens of taxation should be borne equally by all taxable property. We pledge members of the general assembly to formulate and urge the adoption of such a law as will compel the burdens of taxation to rest on corporate and individual property alike, without favor or exemption of any interests."
Walt H. Butler presented the minority report, which was identical with the majority report except the following to precede the preamble: "We, the Democrats of Iowa, in convention assembled, hereby reaffirm the principles of the Democratic national platform adopted at Kansas City July 5, 1900, and without surrendering our convictions or abating our loyalty to our national politics, we believe this campaign to be particularly one that should be confined to state issues." This was signed by Claude Porter, Walt H. Butler and John J. Bery. Mr. Butler moved the substitution of the minority report for the majority report, and addressed the convention in favor thereof. He was enthusiastically cheered, and it was plain to be seen that a large portion of the delegates favored its adoption.
D. W. Hamilton of Sigourney presented a second minority report, signed by himself, with M. Hibee and John L. Powers, as follows: "We, the Democrats of Iowa, in convention assembled, make the following declaration of principle: We hold that in this campaign state issues are paramount, and while not retracting or repudiating any past declarations of the Democratic party, we deem it our duty at this time, valuing questions of new policies, to address our services to the redemption of Iowa from Republican misrule." In all other respects this report was the same as the majority report. The first minority report was adopted by a vote of 600 to 550.

Keystone Republicans.
Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 22.—With the absence of both Senators Quay and Penrose, and other party leaders, the Republican state convention assembled, nominated Judge William P. Potter of Pittsburgh for supreme judge and Frank G. Harris, for three terms member of the house, for state treasurer. The platform indorses the national and state administrations and the official acts of Pennsylvania's United States senators, commends the last legislature, conceded the right of labor and capital to organize and denounces "yellow journalism." Concerning strikes the platform says: "We regret that under prosperity differences should arise between capital and labor, but we hope and believe that these disputes will be fully settled on an equitable basis that will do full justice to the contending parties. The right of capital to make proper and legal combinations has been recognized by legislative enactments in many of the states and this carries with it the right of labor to organize in proper and legal ways for its protection and advantage; but neither capital nor labor has the right to resort to violence or illegal methods to redress wrongs or obtain rights."

Virginia Republicans.
Roanoke, Va., Aug. 22.—The state Republican convention named the first straight Republican ticket since the days of General William Mahone. Of the five living Confederate generals in Virginia four were present. The contests from Richmond and Roanoke were sent to committee after much talk, and both were sealed with half a vote each. At 3 p. m. the convention recessed till 8 p. m. C. A. Heermans was temporary chairman and S. B. Allen of Staunton was permanent chairman. Colonel J. Hampton Hoge of Roanoke was nominated for governor over Warren S. Lury of Rockingham. J. S. Poag of Rocky Mount was nominated for lieutenant governor.
Negro Chopped Up His Wife.
Jackson, Miss., Aug. 22.—George Gordon, a negro, killed his wife with an ax near Raymond, Miss., and chopped the body into an unrecognizable mass. Gordon escaped. A sheriff's posse went in pursuit.

KANSAS CITY PLATFORM INDORSED BY IOWA DEMOCRATS.
The Democrats of Iowa, in state convention, nominated the above ticket on a platform affirming the national platform adopted July 5, 1900, at Kansas City, with the addition of planks on state issues demanding reform in taxation laws, the repeal of liquor law, the enactment of a local option license law and several other matters of interest only to the people of the state.

THE SPORTING WORLD
Michael's Return to Cycling.
Probably the most famous cyclist in the world today is Jimmy Michael, the midwest cycling wonder, who for years has been acknowledged to be one of the fastest men behind pacing machines. The championship of four countries, which really means the championship of the world, has been Michael's honor on a number of occasions.
Born in Wales, Michael started riding in 1894, winning the championship in Cardiff. He discontinued his job as a butcher boy in order to take up cycling, and his wonderful speed at home gave him courage to visit England in 1895, where he captured first honors in every event. During the year of 1896 the diminutive cyclist was the champion of France, and after defeating all the crack riders came to America in the fall and scored a notable victory over Starbuck at the Quill Club meet.

During 1899 Michael, with a bank account of probably $30,000, thought the horse racing game more suitable, and during the season mingled with the followers of the "sport of kings." The end of the year found his bank balance somewhat depleted owing to his riding and betting on slow horses instead of on fast ones, so that in 1900 he again took to the racing game. He met with excellent success last year, while this season he has already scored a couple of notable victories. He is prepared to meet any rider in the world in a paced race of from 20 to 50 miles.

The New "Twist" in Tennis.
Some of the descriptions of the "twist" service which recently obtained prominence owing to the visit of Messrs. Ward and Davis to England are amusing, to say the least.
One writer describes it as a service wherein the ball after striking the ground refuses to rise again and slides across the court until the energy imparted to it by the server is expended. Still another states with detail how the ball after having passed over the net into the receiver's court bounds back again without giving the receiver of the service a chance to return it.
In reality the "twist" service causes the ball the instant it strikes the ground to fly at almost right angles to the course of the serve. The reason for this is the downward twist imparted to the ball, together with a side motion at the moment the ball is leaving the racket.
The effect of such a service is somewhat similar to the "out drop" of a baseball pitcher, which causes the ball to drop suddenly as it passes the plate and curve outward at the same time.
Only a few of our American racket wielders have as yet mastered thoroughly the intricacies of the "twist" service, but without doubt next year will see the service used by a number of the leading players. This service is physically very severe on the player using it because it calls into play muscles seldom used in playing lawn tennis, and for this reason if no other the innovation will gain popularity slowly.

Keene's New Breeding Farm.
Negotiations which have been pending for some time for the famous Castleton stud farm, Lexington, Ky., are now completed, and the famous place has passed into the hands of James Keene, who has leased it for a breeding farm for several years. The owners are the Ford heirs of Richmond, Va., and a sale has been ordered by the courts there. The price reported is $25,000.
The farm consists of 612 acres on the old Iron Works turnpike, seven miles from Lexington, just east of the magnificent Hazen estate, which now belongs to the Russell-Cave road. It was the home of General Castleton. Mr. Keene recently purchased for $20,000 a tract of land adjoining Castleton from Major General Joseph C. Breckinridge.

The Hartford (Conn.) Circuit Meet.
The Grand Circuit meeting at Charter Oak Park, Hartford, will be held Sept. 2-6, and many of the best horses in the country are named in the classes already closed. There are eight open classes. The Charter Oak purse, $10,000, for 2-13 horses, will be trotted Thursday, Sept. 5. The programme is a fine one and the meeting will attract to Hartford thousands of lovers of the light harness horse.

Arrival of Sir Thomas.
New York, Aug. 22.—Sir Thomas Lipton, owner of the Shamrock II, challenger for the Americas cup, arrived in this city at 8 p. m. Wednesday. He met with the most cordial American reception. The steamship Tontoon, on which he was a passenger, received one continuous ovation from Sandy Hook to her dock. Sir Thomas and his party were driven to the Waldorf-Astoria for dinner. He has taken up his quarters on the steam yacht Erin, now anchored off Stapleton.

SHOOTING IN COURT?

Mississippi Farmers Handy With Their Guns.

PROMPT RESPONSE TO FIRST SHOT.

Three Fatally Wounded and Others Had Their Clothing Perforated. Peace at Pierce City—Race War Brewing in Two Georgia Counties. Negro Lynched by a Mob.

Water Valley, Miss., Aug. 22.—While a trial was in progress a number of prominent farmers engaged in a furious shooting affray at Reynolds, in Panola county, in which four men were wounded, three of them fatally.

Otto Johnson was being tried before Justice Smyth and Walter on a charge of seduction. Len Smith, a witness for the state, gave testimony that did not help Johnson, who had a number of friends on the ground. The evidence was all in and the justices had retired to make up their verdict. More than 100 men were present in the room at this time, when suddenly a shot was fired, supposedly by Otto Johnson.

When the smoke cleared away Otto Johnson had three bullets through the body. Len Smith one through the breast, J. W. Dawson one through the breast and the father of Smith one through the arm. Johnson, Smith and Dawson are probably fatally wounded. A dozen men had narrow escapes, getting bullet holes in their clothing.

Pierce City Quiet.

Springfield, Mo., Aug. 22.—Pierce City is quiet, although a message from there says it would still be dangerous for any of the negroes suspected of the murder of Miss Wild to be taken there for a hearing. Springfield negroes fear the mob at Pierce City may be reformed and come here after Lark, the porter. A warrant for Lark, charging him with cutting Miss Wild's throat, was received here, but he will not be given up at this time. Some one posted a notice in a negro settlement here ordering all blacks to leave Springfield by Saturday night, and the negroes are greatly excited. Negroes flocking here from the west say they tried to locate in Marionville, but were ordered to leave.

Race Riot in Georgia.

Atlanta, Aug. 22.—Judging from a telegram received at the executive department from Tatnell county a race riot is imminent in that and the adjoining county of Liberty. Governor Candler is visiting relatives in Alabama and the matter was taken up by Adjutant General Robertson. A telegram from Lieutenant William G. Worrell, Company D, first cavalry, at Hagan, stated that 100 armed negroes had rescued a prisoner from Constable Butler in Liberty county; that the negroes were gathering from all parts of that section, were purchasing all available arms and ammunition and were making grave threats against the whites.

Negro Lynched.

Charlotte, N. C., Aug. 22.—Luke Hough, a negro, was hanged near Wadesboro, N. C., by a committee of enraged citizens. His body was then riddled with bullets. His crime was criminally assaulting Miss Lena Keith. He approached his victim while she slept and broke a chair over her head, then tried to cut her throat. The negro admitted his guilt. The Keiths are prominent people and as soon as the crime became known the entire community started in search. The negro was found in a few hours.

Favers Fears a Lynching.

Oklahoma City, O. T., Aug. 22.—William Favers, the negro porter under arrest here charged with the murder of Miss Wild at Pierce City, Mo., refused to go back to that place without requisition papers. He insists that he can prove an alibi. The negroes of this city have interested themselves in Favers' behalf and will aid in keeping him here until the likelihood of a lynching at Pierce City has passed.

Enraged Negro's Crime.

Albany, Ga., Aug. 22.—Bill Miller, a negro, shot and killed a negro woman and her daughter and mortally wounded her son on a plantation five miles from Newton, Ga. Miller attempted to persuade the woman's daughter to leave with him, and upon her refusal to do so attempted to kill her family. Miller escaped.

Shoe Firm Fails.

Boston, Aug. 22.—Crittchett, Sibley & Company, boot and shoe manufacturers of this city, operating a large factory at Belfast, Me., made an assignment for the benefit of creditors. The liabilities are heavy. A sensation was caused when it became known that A. Cutter Sibley, the well known shoe manufacturer, found dead in his stable here, had committed suicide. It was at first reported that death was due to heart disease. It has been learned that just before his death Mr. Sibley had written to friends announcing he had made an assignment of his interest in the shoe firm of Crittchett, Sibley & Company.

Pot of Gold Found.

Huntsville, Ala., Aug. 22.—A pot containing something over $20,000 was found in a remote precinct of Madison county by Frank Jacks, a poor farmer. The gold was hidden away in a spring which has been used for many years. It is believed the gold was secreted during the civil war.

Will Meet Again.

Boston, Aug. 22.—Crescens and The Abbot will meet at Charter Oak park, Hartford, Sept. 4, for a three-in-five race with a $7,000 purse, $5000 to the winner and $2,000 to the loser.

The Old Man Just One Minute and the Couple Were Married at Perrysburg, Ohio.

Toledo, Ohio, Aug. 22.—John A. Brown, a merchant of Waterville, and Mary C. Leinweber, daughter of a prominent citizen of that town were anxious to wed. Her father forbade the marriage and threatened to shoot Brown on sight. Several attempts to elope were unsuccessful. Finally they started for Perrysburg. In a few minutes the father heard of it and took the next conveyance down. At Perrysburg they crossed the river and came to Toledo from Maumee, throwing the irate parent off the scent. On a lead run they came into the Probate Judge's office, secured a license, and were married just about a minute before the father entered the office.

They skipped out at once, and the father still threatens to shoot his new son-in-law.

GAUL AND TURK

NOW AT THE OUTS

France Cuts the Sultan's Acquaintance for Breaking Promises—Relations are Now Broken.

Constantinople, Aug. 22.—The French ambassador, M. Constans, has notified the sultan's first secretary that all diplomatic relations between France and Turkey are broken off and that the ambassador has informed his government to this effect. M. Constans communicated direct with the sultan, because the latest negotiations were transacted with the sultan personally. The ambassador justifies his action on the ground that the sultan broke his direct, personal promise, given to M. Constans at an audience in the Yildiz palace. Thursday, regarding the purchase of the Quays and settlement of the disputed French claims. The foreign minister also gave formal assurance that the agreement would be carried out, so in view of this double breach of faith M. Constans holds that it is impossible for France to continue diplomatic relations with Turkey.

England Approves France's Action. London, Aug. 22.—The morning papers, commenting upon the Franco-Turkish situation, consider that the action of M. Constans was fully justified. They do not anticipate any serious results, believing that the sultan will ultimately yield.

Schley's Request Refused.

Washington, Aug. 22.—The navy department has given out the latest official correspondence on the Schley case. It concludes with a letter from Acting Secretary Hackett to Admiral Schley, stating that "the department, having constituted he court, should not at this stage of the proceedings undertake to hear and determine questions that may arise respecting the competency of the members of the court. Such a proceeding would be irregular, all questions of this nature being left to the court itself." This is a declaration of the request made by Admiral Schley's counsel that the attention of Admiral Howison be called by the department to an alleged interview in which he said the credit for the victory at Santiago belonged to Sampson.

Lemon Juice.

An English scientist in writing of lemons says dietetic science tells us that the juice contains acids in considerable quantities, among which are citric acid, malic acid and sugar, and that the rind affords a volatile oil. Citric acid, he says, is mainly valuable as an antiscorbutic—that is, preventive of scurvy—but that it occurs in gooseberries and oranges also. He sums up in the conclusion that the lemon is a useful fruit in the ordinary sense, but that its virtues have been greatly exaggerated.

PEOPLE OF THE DAY

The Cuban Patriot's Visit.

Something of mystery attached to the visit of General Maximo Gomez to this country until he issued a statement to the effect that it had no political significance whatever and that he was here for the sole purpose of paying his respects to the president of the United States and again greeting his old friend and fellow patriot, Tomas Estrada Palma, who during Cuba's late campaign against Spain was the head of the Cuban junta in this country. General Gomez visited President McKinley and personally expressed to him the deep gratitude he felt for the assistance of the United States in Cuba's struggle for independence. No political topics were, it is said, discussed during the interview, which was purely social. Later the general dined with the president at the White House, upon which occasion he met a number of the members of the cabinet. During his visit in Washington and elsewhere in this country the sturdy old Cuban patriot was most courteously received in recognition of his heroic services in behalf of Cuba libre, to which he has devoted the greater part of a lifetime. Though a native of Santo Domingo, he was a Cuban's cause his own. He was a conspicuous leader in the ten years' war and has ever since been an aggressive enemy of Spain, conducting an almost ceaseless campaign for Cuban independence until now he sees the approaching consummation of his cherished hopes. General Gomez has been talked of as a candidate for the first presidency of Cuba, but he disclaims any ambition in this direction, being content to spend his declining years as a plain and humble citizen of the new republic which he has so long and strenuously fought to create.

GENERAL MAXIMO GOMEZ.

CHAPTER XVI.

A DAY OF FATE.

THIS was the day when all the villainy came to a head and did its worst and met with the first installment of exposure. I have told you what was done at the church and what was our own bewilderment, not knowing what to believe or how to explain things. For my own part, though I might have guessed because I had discovered the jealousy of Lady Anastasia, yet the truth, even the possibility of the truth, never came into my mind. I had no manner of doubt in my own mind but it was Molly herself and none other whom I saw standing as a bride at the altar rail with Lord Fyngdale for a bridegroom. The fact, I say, admitted of no dispute. Yet why should Molly change her mind? And why should she deny the fact?

I sought her at the house. I begged her to come into the garden and to talk with me privately. Then I asked those two questions. Her answer to both of them was most amazing.

"Jack," she said, "I know not what you mean. I have not changed my mind. It is impossible for me to marry a man of whom such things can be said unless he can prove that they are false. How can you think that I have changed my mind? As regards this talk about an early wedding, what do I know about it? At 6 o'clock I was in the kitchen with my mother and Nigra. I have not been out of the house at all."

Then I persisted. I asked her if she could have gone out and had perhaps forgotten.

"Forgotten!" she repeated scornfully. "Do you suppose that a woman could be by any possibility forget her own wedding? But what is it, Jack? What is in your mind?"

Then I told her, "Molly," I said, "last night I forgot your letter. There was so much to think and talk about with these disclosures that I forgot this morning I remembered. I forgot I hurried ashore. I ran to the Crown. It was just upon 6, it was too late. His lordship had gone out in a chair. I ran to the church. It was just after 6. The doors were open. I heard voices. I went in, Molly. Do not say that I am dreaming. I saw you—yes, I saw you—yourself, with your pink silk cloak, the hood pulled over your head, a domino to hide your face, just as had been arranged."

"You saw me, Jack? You saw me? How could you see me?"

"And your hand was in Lord Fyngdale's, and Mr. Purden was pronouncing the words which made you his wife. Whom God hath joined together let not man put asunder."

She stared at me with blank amazement.

"In my pink silk cloak? Jack, are you in your right mind, or is it I myself who am gone distraught?"

"Indeed I know not which."

"Did you speak to me? Did you congratulate the bride, Jack?"

"No, I was sick and sorry, Molly. I went out of the church. I had seen enough. The clerk, however, has been telling the story of this private marriage all over the town. Everybody knows it. The marriage is duly entered in the registers. It was a marriage by the archbishop's license. The man Purden may be all that the vicar's letter exposed, but the marriage was in order."

Molly said nothing for awhile; then she said gently: "The letter from the bookseller, your cousin, spoke of Lord Fyngdale as ruined. If he were to marry a woman with money, it would be his."

"I believe that there are sometimes letters—bills of lading or whatever they are called—which give the wife the control of her own property; otherwise everything becomes her husband's."

"Why did he wish to marry me? There was never a gleam of love in his eye nor a note of love in his voice. Why, except that he might get my money?"

"That is, I am convinced, the reason."

"Villainy, villainy, villainy! Jack, this is a conspiracy. Some woman has been made to play my part. Then he will claim me as his wife and lay hands upon all that I have."

"No, Molly; he shall not while you have friends."

"Friends cannot help where the law orders otherwise. So much I know, Jack. Yet you can do one thing for me. You can protect me from the man. He must not take me away."

"All Lynn will fight for you."

"Jack, I want more. I want all Lynn to believe me. You have known me all my life. Am I capable of such a change of mind? Am I capable of so monstrous a falsehood as to steal out to marry the man and then to declare that I have never left the house? Oh, the villain, the villain!" Her cheek was aflame; her eyes flashed.

I seized her hand. "Molly," I cried, "they shall all believe you. I will tell the truth everywhere."

Just then the garden door was thrown open, and Sam Purden appeared. With a smiling face and a bending knee he advanced, bowing low.

"Permit me to offer congratulations to the Countess of Fyngdale."

"I am not a countess, I am plain Molly Miller."

Sam looked disconcerted and puzzled. He perceived that, plot or no plot, he had no hand in it.

"I am come," he said, "from his lordship."

"I have nothing to do with his lordship."

"Surely, madam; surely, my lady, there is some misunderstanding. I am sent by his lordship with his compliments to ask when it will be convenient for the countess to receive him."

"You have been informed, I suppose, that I was married to him this morning."

"Certainly, my lady."

"Then go back to Lord Fyngdale and tell him that he is a villain and a liar, that I have learned his true character, that I am not married to him and that if he ventures to molest me my friends will protect me. Give him that message, sir, word for word."

"I believe, Sam," I said, for his discomfiture and bewilderment made him reel and stagger, "that you have no hand in this new villainy. It was you, however, who brought that man to Lynn, knowing his true character and his antecedents. Let us never see your face here again. Go. If I thought you were in the plot, I would serve you again as the captain served you three years ago."

He went away without another word. Then the captain came home, his face troubled.

"I know not," he said, "what has happened in this place. I have seen Lord Fyngdale. I told him of the charges and accusations."

"Well, did he deny them?"

"He denied nothing, and he admitted nothing. He says that you married him this morning, Molly."

"I know. He has sent Sam Sample here with the same story. Captain, you believe me, do you not?"

"Believe you, Molly? Why, if I did not believe you, I should believe nothing. Believe you? My dear, I would as soon doubt the prayer book."

He laid his hand upon her arm, and the tears came into his eyes. "My dear, I have been an old fool. But I did it for the best. He says that you are his wife. Let him come and take you—if he can!"

"It is not Molly that he would take; it is Molly's fortune."

"Why, sir," she said, "if he takes the whole and wastes and dissipates it, so long as he does not take me, what does it matter?"

Then the vicar came again, and the whole of the business had to be discussed again. At first he adhered to his theory of unconscious action, because a scholar always likes to explain every theory by examples chosen from Latin and Greek authors. He had looked up several more stories of the kind from I know not what folio volumes in his library and came prepared to defend his opinion. But the absolute certainty of Molly's assertion, the evidence of her mother, who declared that Molly had been working with her since half past 5, the firm belief of the captain and my own change of opinion and the possibility of deception shook him.

Finally he abandoned his learned view and adopted our more modern explanations of the case—viz, that the marriage was a sham and that the woman was some creature suborned to personate Molly.

"But what woman can she be?" asked the vicar. "She can write. I have seen the registers. She has signed in a full, round hand without bad spelling. The woman, therefore, is educated. My dear, we may perhaps find the woman. My worthy and pious brother in orders is most certainly in the conspiracy. When there are ladies, one is generally a traitor. To begin with, the scheme is both bold and dangerous. It is the first step toward obtaining a large sum of money under false pretenses. Their necks are in danger, even the neck of a noble earl.

"It is inconceivable," he went on after a little reflection, "how a woman could be found to play such a part. She must be the mistress of the earl. No other could be trusted."

"What should be done meantime?"

"We must meet the enemy on his own ground. He spreads abroad the report that he married Molly this morning. We must publicly and openly deny the fact. Captain, there will be a large company at the assembly this evening.

"Ladies and gentlemen," the vicar continued, "there is but one reply to the last statement, for the lady did not keep her engagement."

"Sir"—his lordship added a step—"are you aware of the meaning of words? Do you assert that I was not married at that time and that place?"

The Rev. Benjamin Purden advanced. "Sir," he addressed the vicar, "like his lordship, I am married at these words. Why, sir, I married myself at 6 o'clock this morning. I performed the marriage service as prescribed by the church for the right honorable the Earl of Fyngdale and Mrs. Mary Miller."

RACE TRACK WAR

BOOKIES ARE SAFE.

Sheriff Hencken and Deputies Repulsed Attempt of Constables to Serve Warrants on Managers.

St. Louis, Aug. 22.—Sheriff Hencken and deputies with shotguns replenished an attempt by constables to serve warrants on the management and bookmakers at Delmar track.

The move to close the track was not altogether unexpected and deputies were at the racetrack when the crowd first began to arrive. In the meantime warrants had been sworn out charging the defendants with keeping a common gambling house. There were 33 warrants in all, those named therein including President Sam W. Adler, C. A. Tilles and L. A. Cellar of Delmar. These were placed in the hands of constables, nearly 40 being in the posse, which was headed by Constable Linhard. At 2 o'clock the posse set out for Delmar. Word was conveyed to the track and the sheriff and his deputies, armed with repeating shotguns, stood near the gate. At the approach of the posse the sheriff walked into the betting ring and placed all the bookmakers' signs on a charge of violating the breeders' law. Betting was immediately suspended at the books. When the posse approached the sheriff ordered its members to keep out of the track. Constable Linhard remained outside after his posse departed and was allowed to enter the grounds. He was unable to serve his warrants. When he withdrew the sheriff released his prisoners and betting proceeded as usual.

Covington Poolrooms Closed. Covington, Ky., Aug. 22.—The poolrooms here were closed as a result of a conference of their owners held Tuesday. Several days ago the judicial machinery of Campbell county was invoked against them and the proprietors decided to abandon Covington and move across the Licking river to Newport, which is in Kenton county. There were three rooms in Covington and one has already prepared to open in Newport.

Steamers Collide. Kingston, Jamaica, Aug. 22.—The Norwegian steamer Uller, Captain Doe, from Baltimore Aug. 15 for Port Antonio, collided in Port Antonio harbor with the Norwegian steamer Agnes, Captain Irgensen, from Philadelphia Aug. 15 for Port Antonio. The Agnes was badly injured and quickly settled down. The wrecking steamer Premier is rendering her assistance. The Uller, without pilot and with her anchors up, was awaiting practice when she unaccountably went full speed ahead, and before her engines could be reversed she crashed into the Agnes, rendering the latter unmanageable from her deck to the water line. The Agnes filled and settled in the mud, but she can easily be raised.

Dynamite in a Crib. Parkersburg, W. Va., Aug. 22.—In an explosion, presumably caused by dynamite being placed in the crib at the mill at Big Springs, a small settlement near the Mingo field in Col. county, two men were killed and two were seriously injured and the mill demolished. The dead are: George Richards of Big Springs, the miller; Jake Knight, a farmer, living near Big Springs.

Labor Leader Suicided. Dallas, Tex., Aug. 22.—J. W. McArthur, a well known labor leader of Houston, Tex., committed suicide by shooting himself through the head.

Conger Again at Peking. Washington, Aug. 22.—The state department received a dispatch from Minister Conger announcing his arrival at Peking Wednesday.

Their Secret is Out. All Radcliffe, Ky., was curious to learn the cause of the vast improvement in the health of Mrs. S. P. Whitaker, who had for a long time, endured untold suffering from a chronic bronchial trouble. It was due to Dr. King's New Discovery, which writes her husband, "I am cured and my little daughter of a severe attack of Whooping Cough. It positively cures colds, coughs, la grippe, bronchitis, asthma and lung troubles. Guaranteed cures 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Hall's drug store."

In anticipation of the concatenation of Ohio Valley "think tanks" at Cincinnati, September 17th and 18th during the Second Fall Festival the festive wits of the Queen City are taxing their grey matter overtime working out pleasant reflections. What does Anthony Hope? To Maricetta Holley.

What happens when John Kendrick Bange? Samuel Smiles.

When is Marian Evans Cross? When William Dean Howells.

Why is George Canning? To teach Julia Ward Howe.

Natural Gas.

To the People of Newark:—Solicitors are going over the city securing or attempting to secure contracts for natural gas to be delivered in this city by a new gas company on or before January first next. We beg to ask the people of Newark to stop to consider the proposition for a moment.

We ask the people before obligating themselves, to be thoroughly convinced that any new gas company has something to sell. In other words, we would ask the people to be sure that any gas company making contracts to furnish gas at a given time in the future has the gas in sufficient quantity to pipe to a city within that time and furnish the same to customers.

It would be well for a committee to visit the new gas field (so-called) and to ascertain from observation the amount of gas that the one well which has already been sunk, is producing.

It took the Newark Natural Gas and Fuel Company nearly four years to extend their lines to the city of Newark, yet a new company proposes to do it by January 1.

The new company promises to have gas for delivery in this city by January 1, but before you sign a contract agreeing to buy said gas, be fully convinced that the new concern has gas and then ask yourself how you will heat your houses until it is piped into town.

SCHOOL GIRL

Becomes a Cigarette Fiend—Declares All Her Friends Smoke—in a Hospital.

New York, Aug. 22.—How Annie Ness, a school girl only 13 years old, became an inveterate cigarette smoker and was finally sent to the hospital as a result was told in court by her mother.

Annie lives with her parents at No. 346 East Thirty-third street, and attends a public school in East Thirty-second street. In the neighborhood of the school is a little store where the school children buy trifles with their spending money, and there it is said Annie bought cigarettes.

She got two for a cent. By and by her throat began to give her trouble. Her persistent cough worried her parents and recently the child was sent to the Bellevue clinic for treatment.

Her tobacco stained fingers, with their tell tale yellow, and the odor still hanging to her breath told the story of her cigarette slavery to the doctors and she did not deny the charge when questioned. She said that all the girls in the neighborhood of her home were cigarette smokers.

REUNION

Of the Montgomery Family Held at Idlewild Park Thursday—Eighty People Present.

About eighty of the representatives and relatives of one of the pioneer families of Licking county, the Montgomery family, held their annual reunion at Idlewild park, better known as the "Old Fort," today. Such a picnic dinner as only the good ladies of this well known family know how to prepare, was partaken of under the beautiful oak trees on a large family table, all being seated and enjoying the pleasures of a family dinner together. The hospitality of the family was also extended to several guests.

To one who has been present at former reunions, the faces of many who formerly graced these occasions with their presence are absent, having gone to their reward.

A complete family organization is kept up properly officered and a meeting is held at these annual gatherings and reports are read and records made of changes by death, marriage and so forth, thus binding the family ties closer and perpetuating the honored name of their ancestors.

The reunion of Thursday was one of the most pleasant that has been held.
